

dayvaa paahan taaree-alay

rwgu gaWl cpl bixl nwmday j lau kl (345-4)	raag ga-or ^h ee chay ^t ee ba ⁿ ee naam ^d ay-o jee-o kee	Raag Gauree Chaytee, The Word Of Naam Dayv Jee:
djw pwhn qwrIAI y]	dayvaa paahan taaree-alay.	God makes even stones float.
rwm khq j n ks n qry]1] rhwaU]	raam kaha ^t jan kas na ta ^r ay. 1 rahaa-o.	So why shouldn't Your humble slave also float across, chanting Your Name, O Lord? 1 Pause qwrll yginkw ibnu rlp kibj w ibAwD Aj wml uqwrIAI y]	taareelay ganikaa bin roop kubijaa bi-aa ^{Dh} ajaamal taaree-alay.	You saved the prostitute, and the ugly hunch-back; You helped the hunter and Ajaamal swim across as well.
crn biDk j n qyalmkiq Bey]	charan ba ^{Dh} ik jan tay-oo mukat ^b ha-ay.	The hunter who shot Krishna in the foot - even he was liberated.
haubil bil ij n rwm khy]1]	ha-o bal bal jin raam kahay. 1	I am a sacrifice, a sacrifice to those who chant the Lord's Name. 1 dwsI sq j nuibdrusidmw agsh kau rj dley]	daasee sut jan bidar sudaamaa ugarsain ka-o raaj ^d ee-ay.	You saved Bidur, the son of the slave-girl, and Sudama; You restored Ugrasain to his throne.
j p hln qp hln kul hln k ⁿ hln nmy ky suAwml qallqry]2]1]	jap heen ta ^p heen kul heen karam heen naamay kay su-aamee tay-oo ta ^r ay. 2 1	Without meditation, without penance, without a good family, without good deeds, Naam Dayv's Lord and Master saved them all. 2 1